No greater dedication is shown in a life than that which proves an attitude of perfection in accomplishment. A student achieves perfection by continuous trials and failures under the guidance of a dedicated, competent, and unyielding instructor. We, here at Rend Lake, believe Mr. Kownacki to be one of the most rigid, requiring, and dedicated of instructors.

We, therefore, mindful of his constant aid to the students of this area, do dedicate this 1969 TARN to his honor and the many students he has taught in past years.

Dean's Message

A rich man's son deserts his family to sit under a tree and ponder the world's problems. A young girl cuts off her hair, dons male clothing, and goes to live with a group of men. A teen-ager chides bankers for their greed. A theology student defies the authority of his church. A youth incites his people to rebel against their oppressors.

Sound familiar? Headlines from yesterday's newspaper? Not at all! The rich man's son was Gautama Buddha; the girl, Joan of Arc; the teen-ager, Christ; and the theology student, Martin Luther. The leader of the revolt was Tecumseh. He was trying to save his people. He brought about their destruction.

Youth has always been a time for idealism, a time for reaction against the established order of things. Yet, successful reform depends upon the manner in which a problem is attacked. Results seem to depend upon proper identification of the causes, upon the methods used, and upon the clarity of vision.

There always has been, there always will be, an established order. Among others, warriors, philosophers, priests, and merchants have controlled this order. The person who proposes a change in the Establishment should think well about the establishment that will supplant the old.

Like Tecumseh, many who have sought to change things for the better have changed them for the worse. Just as there have always been those who would improve man's lot, there have also been the nihilists whose sole aim has been to destroy existing authority. Those who slay the dragon often sow the dragon's teeth.

What has this to do with you - a Rend Lake College student? You are a part of a changing world - a part of a changing college. When an organism stops gorwing, it begins to die. The college needs your ideas; it needs your idealism; it needs your vision. The reputation of the college rests on the contributions of the students who have preceded you. Their desire for change was responsible, among other things, for shaping this publication, the newspaper, and the dramatic program. More important still, their accomplishments have shaped the reputation of the college in the district, in the state, and in the nation.

How will you affect that reputation? What has been your contribution? What will be your contribution in the future?

DEPARTMENTS

Newly organized this year, the Vocational-Technical department is designed to meet the needs of students in Agriculture-mechanics, Agriculture-business, mechanical-technical courses of study. There are programs in licensed practical nursing; business occupations including data processing, income tax, business courses at Benton; and a private pilot ground school. A futures market at Bonnie and a credit equivalency course in History of Southern Illinois were added to the curriculum during the second semester.

Vocational-

Technical Department

Spirits are gay at the 1968 graduation ceremony.

Practical Nursing

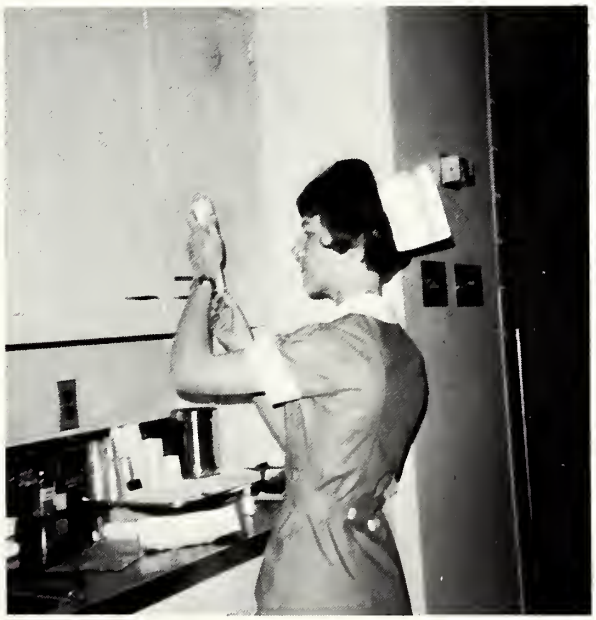
Miss Mary Ksycki answers the phone.

Lucille McClelland speaks on nursing at graduation.

The Rend Lake College Practical Nursing School prepares its students to share in the care of the sick, in the rehabilitation and prevention of illness under direction of a licensed physician or a registered professional nurse in the home, in nursing homes, or in hospitals. The program is completed in three consecutive semesters: (1) Semester I - introductory instruction to nursing and related materials in classroom and clinical areas; (2) Semester II - classroom instruction and clinical experience in Obstetrical Nursing and Pediatric Nursing; Semester III - classroom instruction and clinical experience in Medical and Surgical Nursing.

The program has expanded steadily over the last eight years and now includes in addition to the daytime courses an evening class for continuing education in administration of medications for Licensed Practical Nurses.

Miss Mary Ksycki is the coordinator of the school and has Mrs. June Thompson, Mrs. Shirley McHaney, and Mrs. Sandra Davis as full-time instructors. The part-time instructors for clinical and evening teaching are Mrs. Sandra Van Cleve, Mrs. Celia Allman, and Mrs. Shirley Yeargin.



Mrs. Linda Czerwinski is the School's office secretary.

Instructors in the Business Education Department include Mrs. Barbara Benard, Mr. Myron Foley, Mr. William Younghusband, and Miss Gela Riley, chairman of the department.

Business Education Department

The two years in Accounting, in Economics, in typing, in shorthand; the courses in Income Tax, Business Law, Data Processing, Business Machines, Personal Typing, and Secretarial Problems afford the business student an ever expanding preparation for work in the modern world.

Communications Department

The Communications Department of Rend Lake College offers courses in general studies in basic fundamentals, Introduction to Speech and Drama, a year of freshman composition, and an introduction to world literature from Homer to the present.

A writing laboratory instructed by Miss Barbara Luchsinger, affords opportunity for students with special problems of written organization and grammar to receive additional help. The laboratory has been in operation on a semester basis for several years.

For the first time this year, a reading laboratory has been added to assist students in their developing more proficient rate and accuracy skills. Mrs. Lois Mackey is the instructor.

Instructors in the Communications Department are Mrs. Georgine Monken, Mrs. Carolyn DeSelms, Mr. William Farmer, Mr. Thomas Burke, Mr. Heinz Boeckmann, Mrs. Lois Mackey, Mr. John Traver, Miss Barbara Luchsinger, chairman, and Miss Cheryl Merkens.

French

Backgrounds in the grammar, vocabulary and syntax, conversational skills, work in the language laboratory, and some reading in the literatures of both languages orient the student of French and German for more advanced studies at the university level.

Mrs. Carolyn DeSelms is the college's French instructor. Mr. Heinz Boeckmann is the German instructor in the college. Two years in both languages are taught at Rend Lake College.

German

The Library

Mrs. Imogene Book, head librarian, with clerks Mrs. Paula Dulaney and Miss Helen Baker, Mr. David Patton in charge of audio-visual aides and instructor of Library Science provide a department vital to Rend Lake College.

Library student aides give valuable assistance and service at this center of the learning process.

Science Department

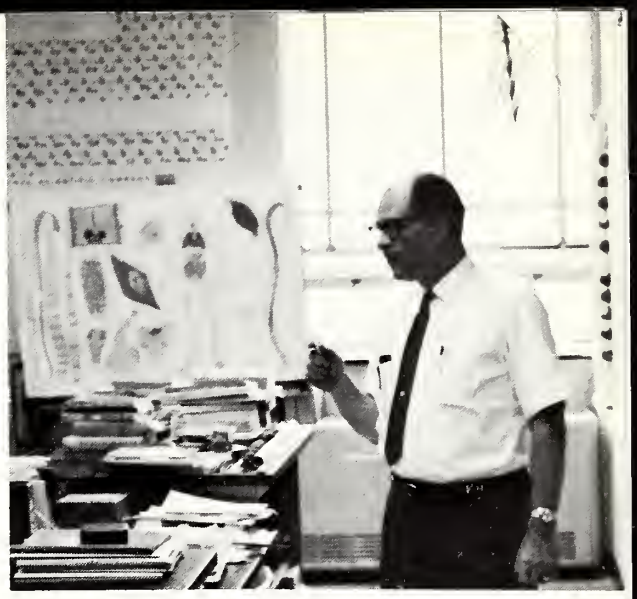
The Science Department's major goals are to offer sound backgrounds in its general courses to become a more intelligent consumer and preparation in pre-professional, pre-technical, and pre-vocational programs. Courses offered include: Introduction to Chemistry, and Inorganic and Organic Chemistry; College Physics; and Botany and Zoology. Lectures detailing and expanding upon the text and supplemental reading materials are further enhanced in all science courses by laboratory experiments which correlate with class and reading explanations to afford the student awareness of the realistic necessity for participation in and immediate application of his acquired knowledge.



General Studies Mathematics and Algebra; courses in Introductory, Intermediate, and College Algebra; Introduction to Mathematics; Trigonometry; Analytical Geometry; Calculus; Business Math and Technical Math--all are so designed to make practical applications and to give backgrounds for further university study.

Mathematics Department

Social Studies Department

With Mr. Glenn L. Dare, chairman of the Social Studies Department, instructors Mrs. Eleanor Hall, Mr. Eugene Cormier, Mr. Judson DeWitt, Mr. Arthur Samford, Mr. Max Brandon, and Mrs. Frances Giamonco, offer a significant and meaningful program explaining man's place in the world structure from ancient times to the United States to modern Asia and to his inner immediacies. He grasps an awareness, therefore, of idealogical and cultural mores to be related to reality.

In the general studies curriculum, the Social Science concentrates on the organization of society with man in it.

Sociology concentrates on that specialized area of man as a social being. Government and geography concentrate on political and various additional forces which condition man. Psychology explains the innate facets and delves into the variables of behavioral patterns of man's mental makeup.

Music

Mr. William Hazelbauer is the instructor of Music Appreciation and Theory, Applied Music Ensemble, Voice, Orchestra, and Chorus. The music student may also take courses for credit in private voice and piano.

Concerts for the public are presented throughout the year.

Music students from R.L.C. and Salem Community choruses present a beautiful and moving Christmas program.

Members of Rend Lake College's concert band in addition to those in the college orchestra are Wilbert Nailing at baritone saxophone, Karen Prasuhn at alto clarinet, Steve Adkins at trumpet, Roger Sanders at French horn.

Mr. James McGhee, chairman of the Fine Arts Department and Music Instructor Mr. William Hazelbauer plan the year before them.

Art

The courses in art are designed to meet some of the first year requirements for those majoring in art and architecture. Each class is planned to serve the hobbyist and for the enrichment of leisure time.

Mr. James Waugh and Miss Rebecca Pettit consult and discuss the physical Education curricula with chairman Mr. Wayne Arnold.

Physical Education

Co-ed physical education includes golf, bowling, archery and recreation, and hygiene.

Courses in physical fitness, weight training, basketball, and volleyball constitute the Men's Physical Education program.

Courses in physical fitness and volleyball constitute the Women's Physical Education program.

At the present time, Introduction to Physical Education and Introduction to Recreation are offered each on a full semester basis for those interested in majoring in Physical Education.

"... Some will then be chosen for higher privilege. The studies which they pursued without order in their early years will now be brought together, and the students will see the relationship of these studies to one another and to truth."

Plato, The Republic

Phi Theta Kappa

Rho Xi Chapter

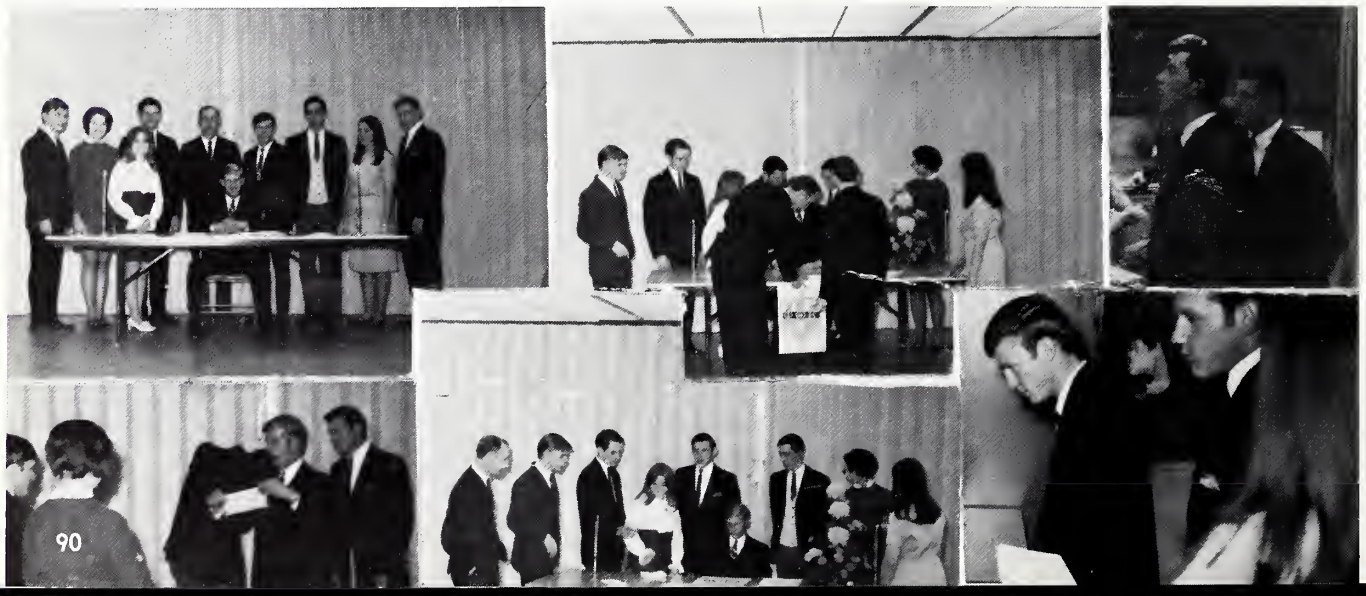
In December, Linda Costley, secretary; Albert Jungers, historian; and John Kiselewski were initiated into Phi Theta Kappa. Other members are Jay Lewis, vice-president; Tom Anderson, president; Herman Hogue, Sharon Neisen and David Catron, treasurer. Larry Stonecipher, student senate representative, was unable to attend. Penny Dycus, a PTK member, was honored guest at the ceremony.



Last spring's first initiates enjoy informal discussion and refreshments following the ceremony on April ninth.

Phi Theta Kappa is a Scholastic honor fraternity incompassing Junior Colleges in forty-three states, the Canal Zone, and Puerto Rico.

The purpose of the organization is to recognize and encourage scholarship among junior college students. Rho Xi chapter was granted a national charter in April 1968, the fiftieth anniversary of the national organization.

Xi Phi chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, business fraternity at Rend Lake College, holds lively monthly meetings at which the members plan dances, bake sales, and a pizza party.

The purpose of the fraternity is to get students interested in the business world. Phi Beta Lambda includes social as well as business activities.

The meetings also include regional speakers, and the highlight of the year, a tour of St. Louis.

Mr. William Younghusband and Mr. Myron Foley sponsor the fraternity.

Campaign speeches by Jackie Gaunt and the seated candidates; Rick's, Debbie's, and Larry's answering questions asked by prospective voters; the signing of John Anderson's petition; Gaynel Scherer's putting up posters; the ballots brought by a monitor, Guy Rogers to the polling center; counting the ballots done by Jay Lewis, Al Goodman, and Nancy Carnaham - these are the steps in the democratic process of choosing.

Rend Lake College'

The beautiful new burnt orange and olive green rugs purchased last spring are brought in through the newspaper office window, measured and cut, and laid in the basement lounge in Building L.

To perform action for our school, we must act our best. The people who work for the student body have the knowledge of what the students desire. It is our purpose, finally, to bend all efforts toward betterment of student relations at Rend Lake College.

Student Senate

The Student Senate arranges for the various convocations throughout the year. In the top panel are shown the presentations of newspaper awards by Karen Dowler, the awards from the yearbook staff and the Student Senate to Mrs. Betty Ann Ward, the platform guests participating in the Spring nominations. In the panel immediately above, Dr. Lester Kirkendahl talks with Larry White and with Mr. David Patton and his audiovisual assistants, Roger Sanders and Lloyd McMillan. In the panel below, John Jay Lewis gives a stirring address at the Veteran's Day Convocation in November; and Rick Heaney, Sheila Dodson, and Gaynel Scherer make plans for future convocations, the Winter semi-formal dance and other Student Senate sponsored activities.

Baptist Student Union

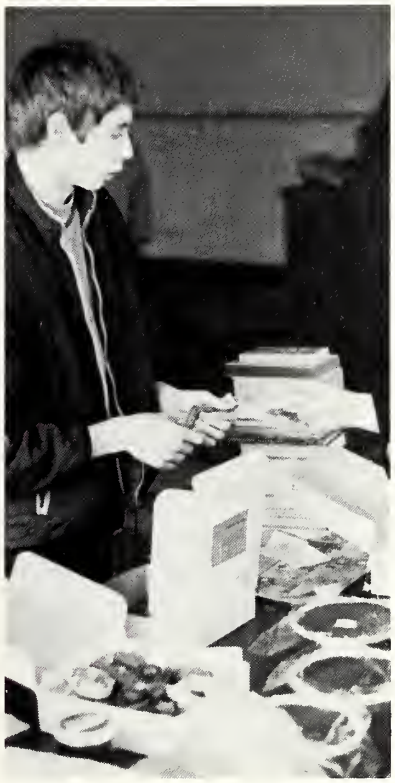
Rev. Everett LeMay, volunteer director of Baptist Student Union, visits with Pastor Harold Conroyd of the Lebanon Baptist Church, who gave a personal testimony at a December meeting.

During the past year, the Baptist Student Union has met at the South Side Baptist Church. In these meetings new friends were made and old friendships renewed. At Christmas members went caroling and visited the sick making people happy wherever they went. During the meetings the students were enlightened on the subject of religion and discussed it thoroughly among themselves.

After the meetings the students had refreshments and then made their separate paths back to school.

Below: Hardworking salesman John Hails sells merchandise at the International Club Bazaar in early December.



International Club advisors Mr. Heinz Boeckmann and Mrs. Carolyn DeSelms, Greg Gibbs, Ted Mannen, Morris Arnold, Larry Davis, Connie Childress, Rita Hoyt, and Debbie Pullis consider planned projects for an exciting year.

International Club

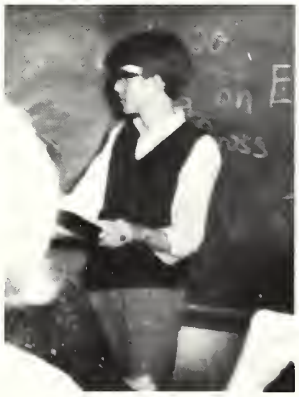
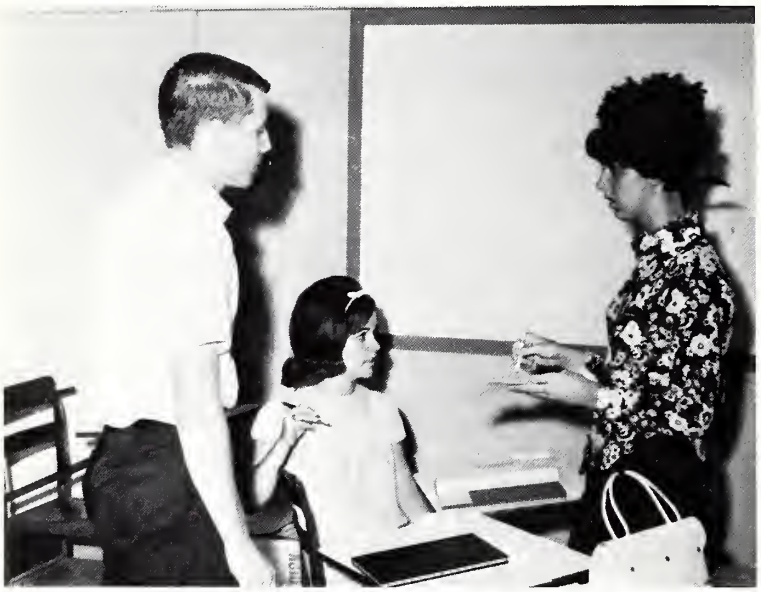
Sales from a club sponsored movie OTHELLO, bottle drives, a bazaar, old books sales, newspaper drives, a car wash in spring were some of the projects used to raise money by this newly organized club for trips this summer to Germany and France.

Members listen with rapt attention to Larry Davis president, as he announces plans for proposed trips this summer to France and Germany.



Kathy Herzing and Jim Aydt sell books to Sheila Dodson during the September book sale.



Miss Emily Kelly lectures on the school systems in Peru.

Student Education Association

Mrs. Book, advisor, discusses plans for a hayride with new club members.

SEA members engage in one of many informal discussions after a meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Samford present a very interesting program at the SEA' S annual Christmas banquet.

Members listen to plans for a bi-yearly book sale.

P.E. Majors Club

Newly organized just before Thanksgiving this fall is a group meeting regularly to discuss topics of interest to those planning to major in Physical Education.

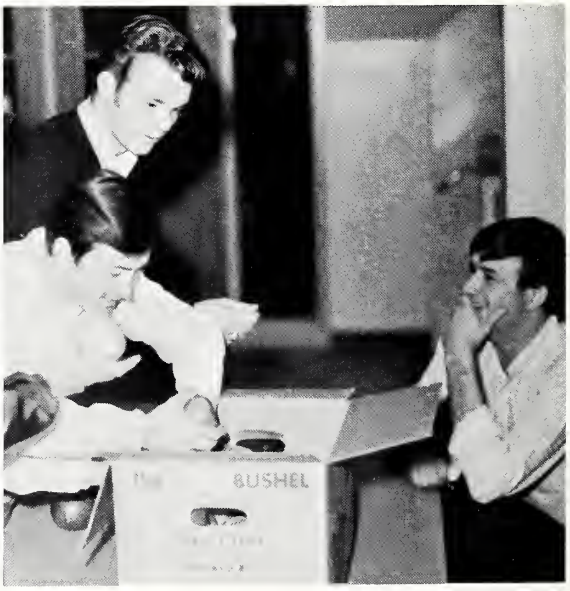
Members make organizational plans for year's activities.

Art Brown gives Rick Heaney and John Anderson a cheerful health reminder: An apple a day...



Learning in earnest of new techniques in the world of science

Mr. Swayne begins the stuffing of an owl.

Club president Steve Stiff presides over meeting.

To provide opportunity beyond the classroom work in a particular scientific field for pursuing specialized interest through its programs is the objective of the Science Club, revitalized after a year of being inactive. Mr. Eugene Estes, Mr. Ed Kownacki, and Mr. Julius Swayne are sponsors. Steve Stiff is president; Randy Carney is vice-president; James Brown is secretary-treasurer; and Karen Dowler is in charge of publicity.

Science Club

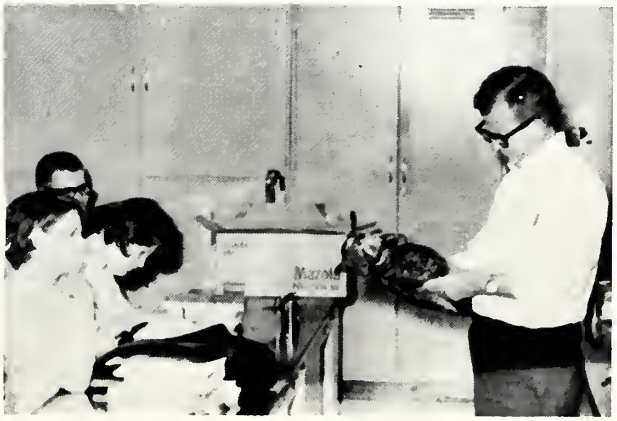
Mr. Julius Swayne demonstrates the process of taxidermy to attentive club members who watch the operation.



When the deadlines came, everyone became a jack of all trades. Writing, and laying out pages, and then typing kept Editor Ollie Karen Dowler in the office.

Any newspaper must be the sum of the individuals who work on it. Many people have worked on this year's Newspaper and thus they have become the life and the soul of it. Each has made his own contribution and given a bit of his own personality to the style of the paper. These, then, are the people who are the staff of THE PRESSING TIMES. These are those who have worked.

The Pressing Times

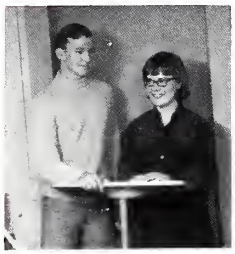
If the advisor is the head of the paper, then Miss Barbara Luchsinger must also be the heart.



Lee Wilson and Linda Flaugher helped in the PT office with the mailing of the exchanges and the typing of the rough copy.

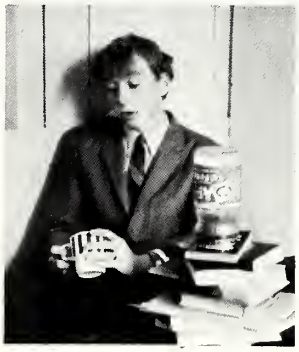
Searching to see who got the by-line this issue are writers Bruce Olin, Jeannine Liller, and Tom Anderson. They all earned a "By."

An unending source of jokes and wit, Brenda Culli checks over her column for Now Is The Time... BC.

Since its beginning four years ago, there have been many changes in the Mt. VCC-RLC newspaper. Originally, the name was PYRAMID PRESS, which gave way to THE PYRAMID TIMES. This year the two names were combined to form the name THE PRESSING TIMES. Name has not been the only change. During its brief history of four years, the paper has been printed in six different formats. Each staff has experimented in an attempt to find the right style. And in future years, there will again be changes as the college continues to grow and mature.

A very busy Barbara Shepard found time to type, write, and clip newspapers.

Circulation Manager Brenda Skibinski is to learn the how of taking pics from Steve Stiff, photog.



"Man, that cup is dirty," claims Jon McClurken as he explains why he can't Try Winging It on the think drink. Meanwhile Kirk Kimmel cautiously tries to type. Writers Debbie Pullis and Kathy Estes help out by offering him a few tips.
